Scopus

Select Databases and guides by subject on the library homepage libguides.wmich.edu/library to find a database.

In Scopus click on the Author search tab and enter in the last name and first initial to search for an author profile.

Click on the name for the author to navigate to their profile. If you have more than one author profile in Scopus, you can select the boxes and click on the link to have the profiles merged.

Visit our guide at libguides.wmich.edu/impact to explore more resources for citation analysis and journal impact.
The author profile will give an h-index for articles indexed by Scopus along with other graphical measurements of citations over time. Scopus indexes more journals than Web of Science but ONLY those published since 1996.

If I scroll down on the offer profile in the list of articles or do an article search I find that the 2010 article in IEEE Transactions on Power Systems was cited by 546 items indexed in Scopus (since 1996).

Clicking on the article title will take me to the article page with a box for all the Cited by...

...Along with a box for the readership statistics for people who saved the article with the Mendeley reference manager.
